The aged veteran is William Henry Gilbert of Oradley, Pa., one of six Union soldiers who guarded Lincoln's "lifer" at Philadelphia, where the body lay in state before being taken to Illinois for burial. Wearing the uniform of the "Boys in Blue" Gilbert was introduced to President Roosevelt by Representative Haines (D., Pa.). During the interview, Gilbert sat in one of Lincoln's cabinet chairs and viewed the famous Lincoln bed.

Speaking of Sports

LONDON, Feb. 12.—UP—Oxford will have the heaviest crew and the largest boat in boat-race history when they meet Cambridge April 6. The average weight of the crew will be around 187 pounds, and the measurements of the boat will be length—63 feet, two inches—two inches longer than last year's boat; beam—24 inches; depth—10½ inches. Last year the beam was 24 inches and the depth 9-7-8 inches.

Fixed Oar Locks
Oxford, too, will use fixed oarlocks, while Cambridge will use swivels. To many watermen it will be a test of the long-standing rivalry between the two styles.

Oxford is doing everything possible in the training line, to provide an eleventh successive Light Blue victory. Oxford has put two crews in the water, one known as the Oxford crew, and the other as "Isis." They will be changed about as necessary, but the Isis crew will row in the "Head of the River" race, in which crews from all the universities compete over the same course on a time basis.

American In Shell
At present in the Isis shell the American R. E. Pfaffner, of Princeton, is rowing No. 6. He may be changed to the Oxford squad at a later date, which would put an American in the race for the first time for several years.

The Dark Blues created a precedent by starting their training at Henley, in the third week of January, instead of Oxford. According to present arrangements they will stay there until March 8, and then go higher up the Thames to Gloucester, and from there to the 4½ mile racing stretch from Putney to Mortlake about two weeks before the day of the race.

Cambridge is training on the narrow River Cam, and with a big squad of freshmen to choose from is making daily chops and changes.

Railroads Are Ordered To Pay
Refund Of Rates

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—Court orders calling for several railroads to pay reparations to Arizona wholesale grocers and others on sugar shipment rates from California points, are upheld today in a decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Reparations, based on unreasonable rates allegedly charged by the railroads, were originally ordered by the Federal District Court of Arizona and the Interstate Commerce Commission. Yesterday's decision followed appeal. Modification of the Arizona decision was ordered with respect to shipments to Douglas, Ariz. On these, the new decision declared "rates to Douglas charged by the railroad were lower than those which were approved by the Commission, and we hold the commission was without jurisdiction to award reparations thereon."

Capacity House

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—UP—A capacity house, Tony Salazola, manager of Dreamland, said today he expected receipts in the Max Baer-Stanley Poreda benefit bout Friday night to pass the $15,000 mark.

All "free lists" for the match have been suspended, and the only persons who will be admitted without charge will be the fighters on the program, directors of the benefit said.

Three Students
Are Suspended
In College Row

SEATTLE, Feb. 12.—UP—The University of Washington faculty discipline committee today suspended three students for remainder of the term and indefinitely suspended the campus chapter of Hammer & Coffin, men's humor society, as result of a disorderly initiation party in which many gas bottles were broken and an apartment damaged.

Twenty of the society's members, temporarily suspended, were reinstated. The ousted students are James Look, president of the society; Richard Stephens, editor of the Washington Column, humor magazine; and Melvin Goldsmith, former managing editor of the University of Washington Daily.

The faculty committee found that intoxicating liquor was brought to the banquet at the order of the officers conducting the initiation.

Extortion Plot
SEATTLE, Feb. 12.—UP—Gay B. Hillman, 22 year old University of Washington law student, who said he had been reading about Chicago's Leopold-Loeb kidnap-murder case, was quoted by police tonight as confessing a bold extortion attempt against F. E. Case, Seattle realtor.

Hillman allegedly demanded $1,500 on threat of death to Case's daughter, Elizabeth, 20. When Case received a threatening letter he called the police and Department of Justice agents. The letter demanded that Case

LORD AWAITING RESCUE BY U. S. NAVAL VESSEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—UP.—With intermittent rain squalls and heavy winds raking the schooner, Philford Lord and four members of his crew waited aboard the Seth Parker today for the navy tug Ontario, rushing from Pago Pago to the stricken vessel.

Nine younger members of the crew, most of them young college students and graduates who signed with Lord for the vessel's around the world cruise in New England and New York, had been removed to the warship Australia.

A naval radio message at 2 P. M., PST., from the Samoa base of the United States Navy said the Ontario was due to reach the Seth Parker Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. A converted collier, the tug has a speed of not more than 12 knots an hour, further retarded by stormy weather in the schooner's vicinity.

Aboard the Seth Parker were Lord, Carey Sweeney, radio engineer of the National Broadcasting Company, and Seamen Flink, Payes and Reuschle.

The Australia took off the nine crew members last night, approximately 24 hours after Lord had sent two SOS calls. The British warship effected the rescue after retracing her course to the vessel, turning back to the schooner's side a day after she had left her, apparently safe. Lord first requested aid from the ship Friday night, and the Australia steamed 350 miles off her course to the Seth Parker. She then went on her way, only to be called back.

After the rescue, the captain of the Australia radioed Lord as follows: "I realize what you have been through and am satisfied there has never been any question of your calling on me unnecessarily."

The warship voluntarily remained beside the Seth Parker last night. It was assumed that she had proceeded on her way to Balboa, in the Canal Zone, today.

Car Thief And "Petting" Bandit Seek Paroles

Parole applications have been filed with the state board of prison directors by Theodore Kuhl, 22, of 427 Macdonald avenue, Richmond, sentenced on grand theft charges, and Manuel Duarte, 31, Oakland junk dealer, convicted on charges of second degree murder and first degree robbery, it was learned today.

Kuhl was arrested on July 23, 1931, for theft of a car owned by M. A. Hays, Richmond, realtor, from in front of his home at Mira Vista.

Duarte was taken into custody on March 9, 1927, as one of three "petting party" bandits. The trio held up Roy Voorhees, 3101 Adeline street, Oakland, and Melvin Sijberg, 2847 Union street, Berkeley, and two girl companions on the San Pablo dam road. A car came by as the robbery was in progress and one of the girls screamed. Duarte fired a shot which struck one of his companions, Frank Allen, killing him. Duarte had claimed the death was "accidental."

Cremation followed the services. Pallbearers were H. A. Black, A. A. Smith, J. A. Bradshaw, A. Nicol, G. Soisy and L. Ollibot.

one crusader finds himself. Max Grabstein, city councilman at Pittsburg, Much has appeared in the columns of this paper concerning that stormy petrel of Pittsburg politics, and it is not necessary to rehearse the history. Stated concisely, Mr. Grabstein, who is a merchant of that city and one of the city fathers, has contended for a long time that the municipality is under the domination of a vice ring and that lurking in the background is a vice overlord. For a time Grabstein was police commissioner and started out to clean up the town. The kickback was immediate and forceful. He has since been kept busy dodging brickbats hurled at him from several directions. A week ago a woman who runs a house of ill-fame in the town was summoned before the council and in response to questions said that Grabstein had sent word to her that she had better put up some money if she wanted to continue her business free from molestation.

SEEKS REDRESS

Now that was a serious accusation in any town, even in Pittsburg, and Grabstein, although realizing that one is "pure as ice and chaste as snow he shall not escape calumny," decided it was time to do something to bring his accuser to book. He therefore sought the issuance of a warrant for criminal libel from the district attorney, but due to a peculiar wording of the law, his request could not be granted. He therefore finds himself in the position of not being able to get any redress except through a civil suit, which, it is likely would be only an idle and empty gesture.

USUAL ENDING

Is it any wonder then that Grabstein feels aggrieved? Yet his lot is that of many a reformer who finds himself plastered with mud instead of being accorded public recognition for his efforts. Personally I do not blame him for calling for a large and ample supply of crying towels. He is entitled to them by every rule of the game, and if you do not believe it listen to what he has to say following the district attorney's opinion, and then see if I am not right.

"In other words any councilman, trustee or supervisor can call to the meeting any prostitute or under-world character and have them say anything they want against a public official and the official must take it on the chin. Well, I certainly have been taking it on the chin since April, 1930."

"In a case like this it really is up to the people. They must be the judges. They can believe in an underworld character who spent most of her life violating the laws of the land, or a man who has fought underworld for the last five years."

"When I closed up 104 Black Diamond Street the early part of October, and ordered the police department to close all the law violating places on Black Diamond Street, you remember what happened."

"My political opponents joined hands with underworld characters and plotted that famous 'protection pay-off' arrest and removed me as police commissioner because I was too strict and refused to take orders from the underworld."

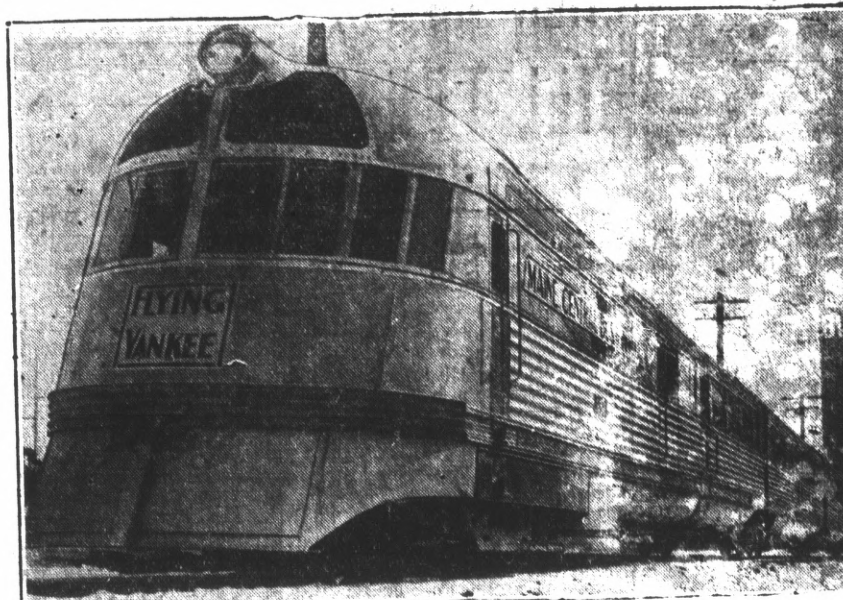

"A few weeks ago when I received a complaint against the house kept by Miss Grace Moore, I immediately sent the complaint to the Chief of Police, and when the chief failed to do his duty I took the man down to the district attorney's office and caused the arrest of Miss Moore and the judge fined her $150 and ordered her place closed."

"Then what happened? Again my political opponents saw fit to act against me. They invited her to the City Council meeting to make statements derogatory to me and attempt to besmirch my character."

ROOSEVELT TO NAME NEW NRA OFFICER SOON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—UP.—President Roosevelt is considering General Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Company, for appointment as NRA administrator under a revised set-up returning it to one-man control when it is extended June 16, the United Press learned tonight.

Wood's name led those mentioned in discussion of possibilities for the post once held by General Hugh S. Johnson, following disclosure by the United Press today that the President was considering abandoning the seven-man administrative board now running NRA affairs.

It was learned that Major G. L. Berry, NRA division administrator and close friend of Mr. Roosevelt, went to Chicago last night. Reached by long distance telephone, Berry refused to comment on the purpose of his mission.

Official circles revealed that Wood was informally approached recently in connection with possible appointment to the work of relief organization that will administer the $1,800,000,000 fund. This he declined.

Ancient City Is Found By Savants In Mesopotamia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—Scientists who uncovered a city of 3250 B. C. a couple of years ago thought they had found the world's oldest community, but they've learned recently that town was "sitting" on top of its "daddy" by eight centuries.

This new "oldest" city—dormant for some 6000 years back—was announced in a report from Charles Hawke, field director of the American School of Oriental Research—University of Pennsylvania Museum Archaeological Expedition, which began its work eight years ago.

Digging in the Tepe Gawra, a pre-historic mound in Northern Mesopotamia, the expedition discovered the heretofore "oldest" city back in 1927.

The scientists, however, kept on burrowing downward, and they have since unearthed 12 layers of civilization—the last few beneath the silt believed to have been left by the flood of Noah's time—and they believe there remain as many more of these strata.

The newest find was the eleventh town to be unearthed in the succeeding layers of excavation. Deeper in its ruins, the archaeologists found walls of buildings, household utensils, receptacles for the beauty preparations of the women of that day, and other remains of the people's domestic life.

FRUITS IN CANS

PART of the joy of eating fruit comes from the lovely surroundings in which you find it. What a good time Adam and Eve must have had in the Garden of Eden eating the fruit! Even after they were evicted by the Angel with the flaming sword it must have been an exceedingly agreeable memory! At any rate, their descendants have gone right on eating apples.

We're all out of the Garden of Eden now. We don't even know where it is. And unfortunately, most of us can't pluck and eat our fruits in either gardens or orchards. Someone else does the plucking in the sunshine and sweet surroundings, and the best he can do for us is to see that the fruit reaches us in our homes with as much of its original taste and aroma as possible.

A Good Job
The commercial canning industry does a swell job for us in this respect. Who of us hasn't mentally glimpsed a branch of apple or peach blossoms when opening a can of one of these fruits? Who hasn't sensed the warmth and romance of far-off Hawaii when the lid comes off a can of pineapple? Who hasn't...

Beat the eggs slightly, then add the sugar, flour and salt mixed together. Add the scalded milk slowly, and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Add the vanilla, and cool. Add the two-thirds cup sugar to the cherry syrup from the can, bring to boiling, add the cherries, and cook gently until the syrup is rich and thick. Cool. Fill tart shells half full of the cream mixture, and cover thickly with the glazed cherries. This makes eight tarts.

Try These Desserts

Or combine two of these fruits in a dessert which is delicious such as the following: Pineapple-Rhubarb Ice. The ingredients are: 1 package lemon gelatin 1 1/2 cups sugar 1 cup boiling water 4 cups rhubarb 1 cup water. Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. Boil the two cups of water and sugar for two or three minutes, and add to the gelatin. Cool and add the pineapple. The rhubarb should be cut in small pieces and then cooked till very soft in the one cup of water. Press through a sieve, and add to the first mixture. (There should be two cups of rhubarb juice.) Freeze in refrigerator trays, stirring often at first, then occasionally. Serves twelve.

A simpler dessert for children is Peach Junket. Its ingredients are:

1 package lemon junket 1 cup milk One 1-pound can sliced peaches Dissolve the milk to lukewarm and dissolve it in the junket. Do not stir after dissolving. Drain the peaches well and lay half of them in the bottoms of individual glass cups. Pour the junket over, and set in refrigerator to chill and set, being careful not to agitate it, or it will whey. When ready to serve, lay the remaining peaches on top. Serves six.

The DAILY WASHINGTON

MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Big Jim Farley is at it again.

The tens of thousands of Government employees residing in Washington are being vigorously solicited for contributions to pay off the half-million dollar deficit of the Democratic National committee.

The campaign is being conducted most adroitly.

Nominally Jim has nothing to do with it, the solicitations being made by the "National Democratic Council of the District of Columbia."

But prominently displayed in the upper right-hand corner of its very pointed letter is the following:

NATIONAL OFFICERS

James A. Farley, Chairman.

Walter L. Cummings, Treasurer.

And in the left-hand corner it still more significantly informs Democratic Finance Committee of the District of Columbia (authorized by the Democratic National Committee).

Joe J. Cotter, Chairman.

Walter C. Tracy, Secretary.

The letter itself reads as follows:

"As you will see from the attached appeal, we are making an effort to assist the National Democratic Committee in paying off its deficit.

If you can help, won't you please let me hear from you as soon as convenient.

Joe J. COTTER, Chairman.

The attached "appeal" consists of a blank pledge. It is headed "To Friends of the New Deal," and at the bottom is this heart-warming announcement:

"Note: With a view of broadening the base of participation in party affairs, the National Committee has decided to limit contributions to a maximum of $1,000."

DISCOURAGED

"Well, Senator," said a friend to George Norris the day after Roosevelt had spanked A. F. of L. leaders and dismissed the group of militant liberals from the AAA.

"What do you think of the New Deal now?"

"I don't want to think about it," was the dolorous reply.

DISTURBED

Despite the President's snappy rejoinder to the A. F. of L. his inner council is far from happy over the rift with organized labor.

None of them had anticipated the fierce outburst of indignation that greeted renewal of the ban code. It had been expected three times before that a little labor muttering and bickering and the President's other advisers thought this was all that would happen again.

What they overlooked is the fact that A. F. of L. leadership is on a hot spot from within its own ranks.

NEW SLEUTH STORY ON FOX BILL TODAY

"Happiness Ahead" starring Dick Powell, Josephine Hutchinson, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins and John Halliday, heads the double program opening at the Fox today.

"Father Brown Detective" a new type of fascinating sleuth story is the extra feature today.

"Happiness Ahead" is a romance that combines hilarious situations with thrills, to which several musical numbers have been added.

Dick Powell sings "Happiness Ahead," "Beauty Must Be Love" and "Don't Go Your Heart" and joins with Frank McHugh in a humorous duet "Massaging Window Panes." A fourth song is rendered by Dorothy Fere, the famous Broadway musical comedy star, who sings her way through "All On Account of a Strawberry Sundae."

Josephine Hutchinson, famous of the New York and London stage, makes her bow on the screen opposite Powell in this sort of Cinderella story in reverse, although the path of young love is anything but smooth, which furnishes both comedy and drama.

The second feature is "Father Brown Detective" with Walter Connolly making the shrewd and human old priest a character of great warmth. He goes sleuthing to catch Paul Lukas, an amazingly clever thief, but it is not merely the thief the father is after, but the man.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12.—UP—Someone should start a crusade to inform the public, many of whom are interested in giving credit for artistic work where it is due, that cameramen are as much creative artists as actors and directors, says Hal Mohr, one of Hollywood's best cinematographers.

Of course, Mohr says, within the industry the work of the cameraman is understood and appreciated. However, the great body known as the general public still is hazy on what a cameraman does in pictures. In most cases they think he grinds a crank as the scene is made.

Actually, the head cameraman never touches the camera. His assistants focus the camera upon the scene and cameras have not been cranked since the days of "The Perils of Pauline."

The next natural question that was, "What does a cameraman do?"

"The cameraman's job is to catch and record the mood the actors and directors are attempting to portray," says Mohr. "He virtually is a co-director of the picture, for he decides if the scene can be photographed so that the exact shades of dramatic emotion will appear before the audience as they are visualized by the director."

"Often a cameraman will veto a proposed scene before it is shot. He knows the idea of the director will not record as he thinks he sees it. There have been cases where the director overruled the cameraman, but usually the cutting room experts point out the scene must be taken over, for it does not 'click.'"

Mohr, who is the husband of Evelyn Venable, screen actress, began experimenting with cameras when still a high school student in San Francisco. His first camera was a home-made affair, which he was forced to give up because it violated patents of a company that had a monopoly on motion picture cameras then.

For many years he has been one of Hollywood's best cameramen. Like many other artists in the motion picture colony, he is a "free lance," preferring not to be under contract to any one studio.

Appeal Planned On Ruling Made By Liquor Board

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—UP—Members of the state board of equalization today promised an immediate appeal from a San Francisco superior court ruling that liquor licenses may not be revoked or suspended without a formal hearing.

The ruling, if sustained, would make enforcement of the liquor control act "virtually impossible," State Controller Ray L. Riley said.

Superior Judge W. P. Shortall gave the decision in connection with closing of six San Francisco establishments by the board.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—It almost seems as if the whole Broadway stage is in the hands of a few stars, players and all their sisters, cousins, uncles and aunts. Kith and kin introduce across the theatrical design in as thick a pattern as you could hope to find in any Washington political bureau.

Picking at random, there's Bernard Hart, for instance, who is assistant stage manager at "The Great Waltz." His brother is none other than Mess Hart, the playwright who has a finger in almost every successful pie on the Midway and points west.

Peering a little more closely, we find that Brod Crawford, employed in the east of Noel Coward's "Point Valaine" is the son of Helen Frederick, of musical comedy fame. In the same Coward play, moreover, are Lillian Tongue and Philip Tongue, who are mother and son. The balance to that is to be found in the cast of "Roméo and Juliet" where Charles Waldron and Charles Thorne turn out to be a father and son team.

The family complications go even deeper when we come upon Josephine Hutchinson of "The Great Waltz." She claims a blood tie with Walter Huston, the star of "Dodsworth," and many movie hits. It seems, in addition, that both of them are descendants of the famous Texas Huston family, from which surname the "oo" was gradually dropped during the dispersal of the famous tribe.

Continuing down the family line, we discover that Paul Bremer, the nimble dancer in "Thumbs Up," is a nephew of Ruth Draper, the celebrated character impersonator, turning back to the "Roméo and Juliet" cast, we find that Brenda Forbes, prominent in the company, is sister to Ralph Forbes, of the club was meeting here anyway, I thought I might as well kill two birds with one stone."

Mrs. Sanford brightened. "Oh, I'll be so glad to see Carol again. I wonder if boarding school has changed her any."

"Well," said Joy, with a tinge of malice, "judging from the snooty letters she has written to think her mother was only the town dressmaker."

MRS. SANFORD looked reproachfully at her daughter. She remembered that, when she had first come to Morristown, many years before, Ella Lee Morris had been the most important person in the town, which had been named after her husband's great-grandfather. The Morrises had lived in a luxurious big white house on the hill. That was before the house had burned down, and before Mr. Morris had squandered the family fortune.

"Joy, darling," said Mrs. Sanford, "you mustn't talk that way about Mrs. Morris. She comes from a very fine old family. Joy started to retort with her opinion about old families, but she was interrupted by the entrance of a laughing group of girls. She immediately became her flustered and rushed to greet her guests.

"Come in! Come in, everybody! I thought you all would never get here."

Alice Nichols giggled. "Don't you worry. We wouldn't miss a party for the beautiful Carol for anything!"

Mrs. Sanford bustled about, taking hats and coats.

"Why didn't you bring her in your car, with you, Alice?"

"We tried to, Mrs. Sanford, but John Clark was there—he's going to bring her—and you know how it is." She laughed. "L'amour, toujours l'amour!"

Violence Feared When Closed Mine Reopens In North

JACKSON, Feb. 12.—UP—Eugene D'Ambrosio, president of the miners union, said today no trouble was expected in the opening of the Arzonant mine tomorrow on a non-union basis.

"They can not operate long with unskilled labor," D'Ambrosio said. "We are standing firm in our determination to organize the strike indefinitely, or until we can reach an agreement with the owners."

Although violence is not anticipated, pickets will be at the mines at the opening. D'Ambrosio said. With other mines in the district, the Arzonant has been closed for months as miners sought higher wages and recognition of their union.

Lamson Retrial To Open Monday In S. J. Court

SAN JOSE, Feb. 12.—UP—Retrial of David Lamson on charges of killing his wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, will start Monday as scheduled. It was announced definitely today.

Defense Attorney Edwin F. McKenzie said he had obtained postponement of a Los Angeles court case in which he had been retained. Previously McKenzie had asked District Attorney Fred L. Thomas whether he would agree to a delay in opening of the Lamson retrial.

Lamson, now in the Santa Clara county jail, was granted the new trial when the State Supreme court reversed his conviction on murder charges. His wife's body was found in the bathroom of their Stanford University campus home—Decatur Day, 1933.

U. S. Fleet Will Arrive Today To Visit Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—UP—Their arrival coinciding with start of National Defense Week, 34 ships of the United States fleet will steam into San Francisco harbor tomorrow.

Leading the armada will be the flagship Pennsylvania, bearing Admiral J. M. Reeves, commander in chief of the fleet. The battleship New Mexico will bring Admiral F. H. Brumby, commander of the battle force.

The fleet will bring 23,000 sailors and 1,500 officers into the port. Ten battleships, 11 cruisers, four submarines, two submarine tenders, one airplane carrier and five other craft will be in the contingent.

The ships will remain here 10 days. The last visited San Francisco in December.

Caminetti will come here for duty Thursday, when he will preside at a $15,000 damage action filed by Joe Osgando against the Carquinez school district. He will remain here for as long as he is needed, it was stated.

CHAPTER I

JOY SANFORD stood back and looked with satisfaction at the big table piled high with little cakes and sandwiches for tea. She was a small girl with fluffy hair and somehow always seemed to be fluffily dressed.

"Well, Mother, I think that looks good enough to satisfy anyone."

Mrs. Sanford nodded in agreement, with a deprecating manner which clearly indicated she was accustomed to agreeing with her daughter.

"Who's the party for, darling?" she asked.

"For Carol Morris. She got back from her fancy school this morning and since the Girls' Social

MRS. SANFORD looked reproachfully at her daughter. She remembered that, when she had first come to Morristown, many years before, Ella Lee Morris had been the most important person in the town, which had been named after her husband's great-grandfather. The Morrises had lived in a luxurious big white house on the hill. That was before the house had burned down, and before Mr. Morris had squandered the family fortune.

"Joy, darling," said Mrs. Sanford, "you mustn't talk that way about Mrs. Morris. She comes from a very fine old family. "We tried to, Mrs. Sanford, but John Clark was there—he's going to bring her—and you know how it is." She laughed. "L'amour, toujours l'amour!"

Then, through the window, Mrs. Sanford saw a man running toward the house. It was Caleb Owens, the old Negro who had always worked for the Morrises. Something about the way he ran frightened her, and she walked swiftly to the door and out onto the porch.

"WHAT'S the matter, Caleb?" She saw there were tears streaming down the old man's face.

"It's Mrs. Morris," he gasped. "She's had a stroke. I run all the way. I couldn't get nobody to bring me. Miss Carol's got to come quick."

Even as he spoke, he lurched heavily and would have fallen if Mrs. Sanford had not caught his arm and helped him into a porch chair.

Then she swung round to find Carol standing directly behind her, her lovely face drained of color.

"What's the matter? Why is Caleb here?"

Mrs. Sanford took the girl in her arms.

"It's your mother, Carol! You must try to be brave. She's had a stroke."

There was no laughing light in Carol's deep blue eyes now—only a dazed look of pain and incomprehension. The other girls were all grouped in the doorway, their laughter of a few moments before now hushed.

Joy came out of the group quickly.

"Come, Carol," she said. "I'll run you home in my car."

Without a word, Carol walked numbly to the waiting car. Somehow she knew she could only expect the worst.

L. A. Crews Seize Tunnel Project In Surprise Act

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—In a surprise "putsch" at dawn today, 50 "hard rock" men employed by the Metropolitan Water District took possession of the San Jacinto tunnel project of the $220,000,000 Colorado River aqueduct and ousted forces of the Wenzel and Henrich construction firm of Milwaukee district headquarters reported here.

The firm, which had a $7,500,000 contract to bore the 12-mile tunnel, refused recently to vacate the job after General Manager Frank E. Weymouth of the aqueduct project cancelled the contract, charging unreasonable delay in the work, headquarters said.

At 5 o'clock this morning, the district employees moved on the three centers of work tunnel and took possession. The firm's forces "made no resistance," it was said.

Trial Of Fitts Is Delayed By Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12.—UP—Because of a delay ordered by the State Supreme Court, trial of Byron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, and his sister, Mrs. Berthel Gregory, on perjury charges, will not begin Thursday, as scheduled.

The high court here yesterday granted an alternative writ of mandate which ordered the Los Angeles Superior Court to show cause on March 7 why the writ should not be made permanent. The writ automatically delays the trial until after that date.

Profiteering Is Charged To Meat Packers In East

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Meat packers today were charged with admitting purchase of a large portion of the Nation's livestock at low figures and selling the processed meat upon the basis of higher prices paid later for a small portion of the farmers' products.

Representative Wearin, D., Iowa, voiced the charge in answering criticism of him by Norman Draper, Washington representative of the American Meat Packers. Wearin said Draper, in a letter to him, admitted the industry "has been buying up a large portion of the Nation's livestock at low figures and selling the processed meat to the consumer upon the basis of prices now being paid for a small percentage of the farmer's product on the hoof."

State Expenses For Year Will Be About Same

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—UP—The State government during the next two years will cost little more than it did during the 1933-35 biennium, A. F. Stockburger, State finance director, today declared.

"Under Gov. Merriam's new budget there are no plans to expand any activities," he said. "The government will be held within the limits it has been restricted to during the past few years."

Stockburger said the present budget of $347,000,000 is $2,000,000 more than the last budget, but fixed charges were increased. He pointed out that subventions to counties and cities will total $193,000,000.

Only 22 per cent of the budget is controlled by State officials, he said, and that portion was reduced 26 per cent in the new budget.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of pills, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feelings is your liver. It should pour out two ounces of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. Just take four or five pills, ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Repeat a quartet. 35c at drug stores. © 1933 C. M. Co.

ETHIOPIA IS TO MOBILIZE ITS TROOPS solicited in hunting down and punishing the guilty.

Abyssinia issued this official communique tonight: "The incident on January 29, was provoked by an Italian band, armed with machine guns, which suddenly attacked an Ethiopian patrol close to Gerlogub, after their airplanes had completed a reconnaissance flight."

"The Italians evacuated Addis Ababa on the 29th, and the alleged Ethiopian occupation on February 2 is without motive and is categorically denied."

DENY REPORTS

"The Ethiopian troops have not occupied Addis Ababa and in accordance with strict orders from the emperor never proceeded further than three kilometers from their posts."

The foreign office said so far no Roman protest over the alleged January 29 clash had been received and that officially Abyssinia had no knowledge of Italy's mobilization other than through press reports.

GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS

A spokesman in the Abyssinian legation at Rome, however, was instructed to reiterate this government's desire for peaceful settlement of the dispute and to emphasize that Abyssinia has sought such a settlement in vain through the League of Nations.

Italy refused to permit mediation by the league council, insisting on direct negotiations, and the league upheld her. Instead of opening these negotiations, however, the Italians reported a new outbreak and ordered mobilization of thousands of men for emergency "operations" in Abyssinia.

ARE PREPARED

As a result, the Abyssinians are determined to defend their territory at all costs, and resist any attack even by a power with the modernized troops and military might of Rome.

The emperor can rely on the support and efficiency of his own army. In case of war he can mobilize 1,000,000 men with modern equipment; however, the monarch insists all means toward a peaceful solution will be employed before Italy's warlike gestures are reciprocated.

TWO ARE MISSING

SUNNYVALE, Feb. 12.—UP—Reports from various ships of the fleet to Commander Alger Dressel at the dirigible Macon's home base here tonight indicated Chief Radio Engineer E. M. Dalley and F. Edquiba, Filipino galley boy, were the only members of the dirigible staff still missing.

ROOSEVELT TOLD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—UP—The Navy's last hopes for building a great lighter-than-air fleet were dashed tonight in the wreck of the Macon off the California coast.

High navy officials were jubilant over news that 81 survivors of the 83 officers and men aboard, had been rescued but felt that the crack-up of the great ship—largest and most modern in the world—paralleling the wreck of the Shenandoah and the Akron—doomed this type of craft as a naval weapon.

TELLS HEADQUARTERS

The dirigible sank after the crash, headquarters was informed by Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley, who was in charge. President Roosevelt was apprised of the disaster by his cousin, Henry L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. The president immediately ordered complete details and arrangements made at communications headquarters to relay the increasingly frequent messages to him. Mr. Roosevelt, however, did not comment.

Officials could not conceal their pessimism over the future of dirigibles. While they did not say so it was apparent they believe the navy is through experimenting with the costly, fragile craft.

The Los Angeles, purchased from Germany under an Armistice agreement in 1924, is the only dirigible the navy has left. She was taken out of active service in 1932 and since then has been used for only experimental mooring practice.

SANK IN CRASH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—UP—The U. S. S. Macon sank after crashing on the ocean, Lieut. Commander H. V. Wiley informed the navy department at 12:32 A. M. EST.

His statement was contained in a brief message to the Navy Department from the commander in chief of the fleet, Admiral J. M. Reeves. He said:

"Lieutenant Commander Wiley states the Macon sank. Further details will be reported later."

PROBE ORDERED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—UP—Representative William L. Storovich, N. Y., chairman of the House patents committee which opens hearings Monday on aviation matters, announced the committee would summon witnesses Thursday morning in connection with the crash of the dirigible Macon.

Storovich said he would announce the names of the witnesses tomorrow. The hearing will begin at 10:30 A. M.

Gold Decision May Not Touch Dollar Value

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—UP—Supreme Court procedure took its usual course early this afternoon, indicating that no decision in the gold cases was to be expected immediately. The possibility, remained, however, that the court could hand down its opinion several hours later.

An unprecedented announcement made by Secretary Morgenthau last night was interpreted as an attempt to remove business nervousness, lest it unsettle trade. Casting aside a mask of secrecy for the first time since the Treasury's stabilization fund was created January 31, 1934, Morgenthau said the $2,000,000,000 had been used and would be used to manage American currency abroad.

"The country can go about its business with assurance that we are prepared to maintain the external value of the dollar as long as may be necessary."

ZIMMERMAN MURDER TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

A fight for life will be staged in the Superior court today when the trial of Mrs. Alvin Zimmerman, charged with the murder of her husband, Wesley, former El Cerrillo traffic officer, is called by Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston.

ARGUING IN DRAMA

State police enter into the case to make a point of the most dramatic episode in the history of the county. It is the third time that a woman has ever been tried for murder in Contra Costa county. It will be the first murder trial case for the new district attorney, Francis P. Healy, and his assistant, Harold Jacoby. Arraigned against them will be two men, seasoned in the practice of law, and who have gained enviable reputations in acquiring their clients—Leo Sullivan of Oakland and Thomas M. Carlson of Richmond.

THIRD WOMAN CASE

The first murder trial of a woman in this county occurred in the latter part of 1912 or the early part of 1913 and involved the slaying of a Richmond skating rink proprietor by his common law wife. She was defended and acquitted through the efforts of her attorneys, Dan Hall and T. H. McLap. Incidentally it was Dolan's first case. Thomas D. Johnston, now Superior Judge, was then prosecuting attorney. The second case was that of Onetta Hall, in 1919, who was accused of murdering a Chinese by the name of Charley Hong. She also was acquitted.

Even more dramatic will be the story of the killing as it is unfolded in the courtroom—a story of alleged abuse culminating in a challenge by Zimmerman to his wife to shoot him after he had slapped her several times and cursed her. When Mrs. Zimmerman told Zimmerman "I'll kill you for that some day," he is said to have replied: "Go ahead, you know where the guns are." The answer to the deft was the seizing of a gun by the woman and shooting her husband in the back of the head.

Immediately subsequent to the shooting Mrs. Zimmerman said: "He beat me for seven years and I could not stand it any longer. He had it coming to him."

The excitement of the tragedy, who was a visitor at the Zimmerman home at the time, Morvin McNally, corroborated Mrs. Zimmerman's story of the events immediately preceding the tragedy and told of other occurrences of like nature extending back over a period of years.

DEATH URGED BY WILENTZ IN ADDRESS

today. It came late in the afternoon, when the courtroom was stifling, when perspiration dripped from the chins of spectators and smeared the rouge and powder on women's cheeks.

WILD SCENE

Wilentz, weary and spent, was coming to the close of his summation, speaking the last words of denunciation that can be spoken in this courtroom.

Abruptly a man, wearing clerical garb, stood up among the spectators and shouted:

"If your honor please, a man in my church has confessed—"

TICKLISH MOMENT

He never had a chance to finish. The hands of six constables were clamped over his mouth, and Wilentz whirled and shouted:

"Stop that!"

It was a ticklish moment for court and counsel. Lesser things than that have caused mistrials. And nobody, not even the defense lawyers, wanted a mistrial declared here, on the evening before the jury was to be sent out. It would mean coming back to Flemington and going, wearily and carefully, over all the testimony that has been spoken here since January 2.

PASTOR OF CHURCH

Constables dragged the man out of the courtroom stifling his struggles and kicks to get free. When he was calmer, he said his name was the Rev. Vincent Burns, pastor of the Union Non-Denominational Church at Palisades Park, N. J. His brother, he said, was George Burns, the "fugitive" from a Georgia chain gang, who escaped to New Jersey.

"Next that George Burns be brought back for trial on charges of being a fugitive from justice," Wilentz and Edward J. Reilly of defense counsel went up to the judge's bench to assess the damage that had been done by such a remark made in the presence of the jury. They agreed to disregard it and not to request that a mistrial be declared.

DISREGARD STORY

Then Trenchard turned to the jury and said:

"I don't know whether you heard much of the incident that just took place. If you heard any of it, I want you to disregard it. Just forget that you ever heard or saw anything here of that nature this afternoon. The jury may now retire and come back at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning."

Once more the wisdom of this 71 year old man had brushed aside legal technicalities and kept this trial going in the face of events such as never before have occurred in a courtroom.

HUGE CROWD

Outside the courthouse came the howl of a crowd that filled Main street, spilled over into alleys and spread through the village. It was a crowd that had been waiting all day for a chance to get into a courtroom that already bulged almost to bursting with humanity. State troopers flung open the courthouse doors and cleared a lane for the jury, which filed across the street into the Union hotel.

Then the mob surged against the courthouse doors. People who had been inside all afternoon clubbed and fought to get into the open where they could gulp fresh air into their lungs. Those on the outside hurled their weight forward, trying to push into the courtroom for one glimpse before it was closed for the night.

ORDER RESTORED

A file of State police in horizon blue coats, pistols strapped to their waists, fought their way through the mob and in 10 minutes had restored order and quiet. In the midst of this day of excitement and anger and bitterness, one fresh word bearing on the case came out of Attorney General Wilentz's summation. He said the State held the theory that Hauptmann either "killed or crushed the Lindbergh baby into insensibility" right in the nursery. He inferred that the blow that shattered the child's skull might have been struck with a chisel that was found on the Lindbergh estate. Heretofore, the State has expressed the belief that the child was killed—and Hauptmann was injured—when the ladder used in the kidnapping broke under their combined weight.

REVIEWED EVIDENCE

The rest of the summation was a review of the evidence and one of the most savage tirades ever heard against a prisoner at the Bar of Justice.

"The defense has tried to draw everybody in this case down into the muck with Hauptmann. Every day or so they would speak of Fisch and tell us what they were going to prove against him. But

A Lucky Kick

FRANK GREGES, a "sandwich man" in the Wall Street district of New York, who, trudging along with his sign over his shoulder, stumbled against a package in the snow. It was $45,000 in bonds, dropped by a messenger. Greges turned it over to the police.

Stout Gave Orr Job At SARA Office

and their activities in this county. As you know these outside projects are not under the direct supervision of this office. We furnish the labor but supervision is under a foreman or superintendent of the city or county, dependent, of course whether it is a city or county project. In that way we really have no control or jurisdiction over the men."

COULD BETTER WATCH HIM

"I found from an examination of the records that Orr had qualified for relief work either last October or November, which month I would not be positive without looking up the records. Under the ruling of the government the man could not be considered work on account of his beliefs or his affiliation with the Communist cause. However, I decided that he would have less opportunity to spread his doctrines and perhaps cause trouble if he was under my direct supervision and where I could keep a watchful eye on him."

He never proved a thing. "It was Hauptmann who hastened the death of Ollie Whately and Violet Sharpe—hastened it with the crime he committed. And he crushed Betty Gow. Why, if Betty Gow had one scintilla of evidence against her, one scintilla of guilty knowledge, she would not have come here to testify. Contrast that with Hauptmann. Was he willing to come here? He was not. We had to get a governor's warrant for him."

DUCE PREPARES TO CALL MORE TROOPS TO WAR

ROME, Feb. 12.—UP—The supreme council of defense, under Premier Benito Mussolini, met tonight to consider further mobilization of the armed might of Italy in event of war with Abyssinia over recurrent clashes on the Italian-Somali frontier.

Il Duce swore all members to secrecy. They deliberated behind locked doors. All members, including the general Italo Balbo, former air minister and now governor of Libya, wore their brilliant uniforms, giving a warlike appearance to the council session.

The United Press understood the council approved a sharply worded protest being dispatched to Addis Ababa, demanding indemnity for the latest attack on January 29, in which five more Italian native troops reportedly were killed.

The major demands were:

- 1—Formal salute to the Italian flag, the Abyssinian officer to stand bareheaded in saluting.
- 2—Formal diplomatic apology.
- 3—Indemnity for the attack.
- 4—Appointment of a mixed commission to delimit the Abyssinian-Italian Somali frontier.
- 5—A guarantee that this frontier line would be respected.

CALL TROOPS

Mobilization of two divisions and thousands of youth from three classes of 1909-11 proceeded swiftly.

General Rudolpho Graziani, 53, former vice governor of Crenalea, was appointed to command the Italian expedition to Abyssinia. Graziani a colonial veteran, once crushed a rebellion in Libya. Until recently, he commanded the army corps area at Udine, Italian-Austrian border.

While the reparation figures are guarded closely, it was believed nearly $5,000,000 was demanded, to provide for families of the dead as well as any material damage to the Italian frontier posts.

The indemnity was fixed on the basis of 200 killed in the clashes in recent months, with a demand for 1000 thalers, the prevailing Abyssinian coinage amounting roughly to 50 cents, for each.

Woman Killed In Hotel Fall

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—A woman whom hotel officials said was registered as Mrs. Al Hayes of New York, leaped or fell to her death today from the ninth floor of the Statler hotel.

She left two notes, police said, one containing a sum of money to pay her obligations to the hotel and the second, addressed to Chas. Heck of Danbury, Conn., directing that she be cremated.

FORD PRESENTS

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN TRUCK ENGINEERING

Obtained by mounting front springs ahead of axle and moving V-8 engine forward. This places more load ahead of rear axle, more weight on front end.

THE important fact to remember about the new Ford V-8 Truck for 1935 is not merely that it gives you new money-saving features—but that these features have been added to a truck whose economy, performance, stamina have already been proved.

For 1935, Ford gives you an entirely new development—Forward Load Distribution. This makes possible more uniform tire and brake wear—better brake action—improved operation and wear throughout the truck. In addition, with more space between the cab and rear axle, the 1935 Ford V-8 permits acute angle turns with full-width semi-trailers.

No matter how efficiently you are now doing your hauling, these and the other features of the 1935 Ford V-8 are important advantages to consider. They are matched by no other truck in America today, regardless of price.

Test this new Ford V-8 Truck yourself. Your nearest Ford dealer will let you do this... on your own job, under your own load, with your own driver!

TUCK yourself away in a Pullman berth on a stormy night—read till you are drowsy—then switch off the light and let the musical clickety click of the wheels sing you to sleep. Then you'll know what it means to be "snug as a bug in a rug."

No other way of traveling is as safe, comfortable and painless as this. You go to bed here. You wake up there. It's as simple as that!

Pullman berths are surprisingly roomy. They are six feet, two inches long and three feet, one inch wide. Pullman charges everywhere in the West are exactly one-third lower than they were two years ago.
